Guru sakásha

Gurusakásha

THE TEXT

Prátah shirasi shukle’bje dvinetraḿ dvibhujaḿ gurum;
Varábhayakrtahastaḿ smarettaḿ námapúrvakam.

TRANSLATION

Early in the morning, in a snow-white lotus in the Guru cakra, I see the eyes and the hands of the Guru. He is making varábhaya mudrá, and I call Him by name with a deep feeling of love.

Source: Translation as in the Ananda Marga pocket handbook (from the Russian edition)